From Thairath, October 22, 2019

Title: Cobra is normal, but Anaconda is more dangerous.

On Anaconda: Dictator + Inciting media. Groups to destroy the Future Forward Party

On the book: Budget of Uncle

On the small cobras: PT , Opposition parties

Phi Nooring: Pray for him to survive

Mouse: Save Thanathorn

. Recently, many members from his party announced their resignation and some voted support the government against the Future Forward Party's resolution. The party is also facing a risk that it will be dissolved due to various legal cases.

The cartoon refers to Aesop's Fable titled "The farmer and the viper." It is a parable of a person who betrays for his benefit. In Thai politics, politicians who switch parties are called "cobras" for their disloyalty.

The cartoon shows Future Forward Party Thanathorn beset by cobra members of his won party who supported the government due to the benefits they may be receiving from the government budget.

Thanathorn is held by a giant snake representing the push government, military and media to paint him as a dangerous radical.

Thanathorn is making the three fingers salute from Hunger Games to signify that the present government is still a part of the dictatorship he wants to resist.]

... “Maybe another manager might have said there’s a line here that you don’t cross, but Sven understood that it’s their money and understood their way of life and let them do what they wanted, but it wasn’t as professional.

“Sometimes the chairman came down to do a team talk.

“I think a lot of the players were down and doing that thing you do in the classroom – looking up to see if anyone’s laughing. It was just a strange thing and Sven just took a back step and let him do what he wanted.

“We left the changing room and looked at each other, shrugged and said ‘what was that all about?’” ...
